Is Recognized By Surgeons In New York

New York, April 1-The category of physical ailments contains a class called "occupation diseases," each malady, of course, resulting from the particular occupation which the sufferer follows for a livelihood. For instance. Dr. Charles L. Dana, the distinguished neurologist, in his book on nervous diseases refers to the wasting away of muscles due to constant overuse. This, he says, applies particularly to the small muscles of the hand, and he cites the atrophy of such muscles in lapidaries. Again, he mentions the wasting of the biceps in blacksmiths and atrophy of the muscles of the calf of the leg in ballet Utica, N. Y., April I.-Mrs. Estznia dancers. back kick may come at any one of sevral points of the engine's cylinders.

"Even though the spark be adcanced and though it be necessary to spin the handle, the danger of sustaining the chauffeur's fracture may still be avoided by attention to the proper method of grasping the handle. This should be grasped with the fingers and palm only, the thumb lying upon the same side of the handle as does the palm. The thumb should never encircle the handle. Should a backfire now occur during the descent of the handle it will slide harmlessly up the palm.

"Although so easy of prevention, the chauffeur's fracture will continue to occur, and the surgeon should be ready to recognize the presence of fracture when a hasty examination might lead to the diagnosis of a less serious injury.

"Immobilization of the forearm and wrist in antero-posterior splints is sufficient in the majority of cases. The fingers are left free and the patient is instructed to move them freely, for by so doing a return to the normal use of the hand will be hastened. Massage is of prime importance and should not be omitted. The patient is usually back to work in three weeks with a wrist band to be worn for a week or two after release from the splints."
